THE first number of the Clarksburg Sun has been issued. In the typography and general make up it is the best specimens of a weekly paper that has ever reached our table from a West Virginia office. We trust the enterprising publishers may be able to sustain themselves at the standard of excellence with which they set out

THE Register affects to think it a grave inconsistency that we should now want the people in voting the railroad and bridge subscriptions to impose conditions on council, when a few months ago it opposed the imposition of conditions by the Legislature in regard to the terminus of the road. There is no inconsistency at all. The conditions in the two cases rest on totally different grounds. We thought the building of a bridge impracticable, and that if it were made a prime condition the whole undertaking was at an end. The contrary has not yet been shown. But we wanted this matter of the terminus left with the people of the city. We thought roads coming to the Island might be secured with their aid, and did not want the Legislature to forbid them the privilege of voting whether they would aid such enterprise or not. If that had been allowed, we should have expected, of course, that when we came to vote for or against such subscription, it would have been with proper restrictions on council as to the payment of the money to the companies, just as we asked for them in the present case. The condition imposed by the Legislature, requiring a bridge to be built, has greatly enlarged the undertaking and rendered it all the more necessary to proceed cautiously.

We are gratified to find our neighbor rendering valuable assistance in pressing on the public attention the fact that MENDEL & DUNAWAY'S. leading issue before our people in the railroad and bridge election is: Whether the people can implicitly trust the City Council in the matter of turning over to the railroad company and bridge corporators (no company being organized) the $600,-000 which Council asks to have placed in their hands for this purpose, without the most ordinary checks on their action.

The Register may not be quite correct in saying it is a question which "directly affects the private integrity and honor" of councilmen. It seems to us rather to involve the public integrity and honor of that honorable body, which to municipal bodies generally proves a very different the city of Wheeling has long needed commodity from the private article. It may not in all cases be a question of integrity and honor at all, but of discretion, judgment and intelligence. In cases where members of council are also members of one of the corporations, it might be a question of delicacy. Just how plentiful that article is in council it is not for us to say. If councilmen are as thinskinned as the Register over this issue, which it insists on pressing, then we can only success that they might have appears to the state of the supposition of the property of the state of the supposition of the suppositio may not in all cases be a question of inonly suggest that they might have spared themselves some of their present distress by simply putting into the ordinances a ew conditions like those proposed by Mr. HANDLAN and Governor Stanton, limiting their discretion and anticipating the present want of confidence.

GREENBACKS TO PAY DUTIES,-The House of Representatives on Friday took an important step in its work of tariff amendment by modifying existing laws so as to make one-third of the customs duties payable in legal-tender notes This, at recent rates of premium for gold, is equivalent to a reduction of from 3 to 4 per cent, of the duty levied, and added to the 10 per cent. "horizontal reduction," which was adopted by both Houses of Congress for many of the more heavily taxed articles, now promises to give more relief to consumers than appeared at one time probable.
